4.2 Business Case on a national intake process for non-CEAB applicants

Melanie Ouellette, Manager, Strategic and Operational Planning presented

Context

- Engineers Canada staff tasked with developing a business case for national intake process for assessment of non-CEAB applicants
- In preparation, conducting preliminary research:
  - Commonalities among regulators
  - Legal review to determine if regulators' laws, regulations, and bylaws allow flexibility to delegate part or all of assessment process
  - Environmental scan of similar national organizations' practices

Commonalities between regulators

The below assessment methods were compared between regulators:

- Minimum academic eligibility requirement to become a P. Eng.
- WES ICAP course-by-course report requirement for international applicants (can be exemptions)
- Use of IIDD to confirm that degree and discipline is recognized in country of origin
- Recognition of Washington Accord without further assessment
- Recognition of IPEA without further assessment
- Recognition of Commission des Titres d'Ingénieur, Conseil National des Ingénieurs et Scientifiques de France without further assessment
- Use of Fundamentals of Engineering (FE) exam

Legal opinion findings

- Legal opinion highlights several administrative (not statutory) functions could be delegated without changing Regulators' acts, regulations, or by-laws:
  - Fact gathering and validation of information;
  - Providing recommendations on examinations or other requirements for licensure; and
  - Administering examinations

Major Milestones

- 2026: Engage interest holders
- 2027-2028: Develop business case, consult on business case, finalize business case, decide to proceed with implementation (Engineers Canada Board)
- 2028+: Start change management implementation

Members appreciated the presentation and expressed they were eager to see how CEQB could get involved.

5. Selection of 2027 work plan priorities for consultation
Sam Inchasi, CEQB Chair, presented:

5.1 Selection of 2027 work plan priorities for consultation
Ryan Melsom, CEQB Secretary, presented:

Three potential work plan items were proposed by CEQB members and officials for 2027, and one was added by the CEQB Secretariat based on a past proposal (proposals attached as appendices 5.1b-5.1e). Based on recent years, 2027 resources would likely allow for one new guideline, although up to two may be sent for consultation to help determine regulators interest:

- Proposed Engineers Canada paper discussing the impacts of globalization on P.Eng. licensure.
- Proposed New Guideline on Professional Practice Considerations for Digital Twin (DT) Environments.
- Proposed New Guideline on Fundamentals of Consultation and Engagement.
- Proposed New Guideline on Engineering Teams Working Across Different Ethical and Regulatory Environments.

CEQB is invited to consider ways to combine or re-imagine any of the proposals (e.g. environmental scans, research papers, regulator surveys, etc.)

Timely delivery and benefit to regulator decision making should be prioritized
Revisions to workplan items were discussed with a deadline of April 17th to implement changes for consultation. Discussions led to the recommendation to revise and send items Proposed New Guideline on Professional Practice Considerations for Digital Twin (DT) Environments and Proposed New Guideline on Fundamentals of Consultation and Engagement for consultation as well as combine Proposed Engineers Canada paper discussing the impacts of globalization on P.Eng. licensure with Proposed New Guideline on Engineering Teams Working Across Different Ethical and Regulatory Environments for consultation.

Action item 134.2 and 134.3

Motion: THAT the CEQB agrees on 1-2 proposals [as presented or amended] for potential new work items in 2027 was moved by Marcie Cochrane and seconded by Kamran Behdinan. None were opposed. The motions carried.

Motion TO revise and send top two (2 and 3) and a combined 1 + 4 for consultation the new 2027 work item proposals, and items up for cyclical reviews in 2027, be sent to the regulators for consultation was moved by Elliott Coles and seconded by Rishi Gupta. None were opposed. The motions carried.

6. Committee reports
Sam Inchasi, CEQB Chair, presented:

6.1 Syllabus Committee
Kamran Behdinan, Committee Chair, presented:

- Environmental Engineering and Geomatics Engineering syllabi draft revisions are nearing completion and targeted for approval in July 2026.
- The Committee is continuing work on syllabus reviews already underway and has initiated the Civil Engineering syllabus review.
- A strategic pause is currently in place for Engineering Physics and Basic Studies. This pause reflects two key considerations:
    - A review of the data management tool currently used to compile accredited program information; and
    - Uncertainty related to the Future of Engineering Accreditation (FEA) initiative, which may significantly affect future approaches to non-CEAB assessment and syllabus development.

- There is a growing need to ensure a sufficient pool of qualified expert reviewers to support syllabus reviews.
- Challenges in sourcing reviewers may affect timelines and will require proactive attention.

6.2 Practice Committee
Adam Wallace, Interim Committee Chair, presented:

- The updated Regulators Guideline on the Practice of Engineering in Canada is now available to engineering regulators; the final version incorporates Rosen Sunshine legal advice, including a stronger disclaimer
    - Rosen Sunshine has assessed risk of public guidance as low, and risk of Regulator-only guidance is minimal.
- The Frivolous and Vexatious Complaints guideline is progressing well, with 40 consultation comments informing the draft expected to come forward in July.
- Work on a new Guideline on the Public Conduct of Engineers will begin in May.
- CEQB will be engaging regulators to identify new members for the Practice Committee.

6.3 Foresight Committee
Amy Hsiao, Committee Chair, presented:

- Following initial exploration, the Foresight Committee has identified two potential topics for the development of thought papers:
    1. Engineering government and public trust
    2. Energy transition
- The Committee is considering whether to proceed with one or both topics and will confirm feasibility and timelines.
- The papers are anticipated to be completed for the September 2026 meeting.
- They are planned to be presented for information, rather than for CEQB approval.

6.4 Admissions Issues Committee

Marcie Cochrane, Committee Chair, presented:

- The Committee met virtually on February 18, 2026 to initiate the review of the 2020 Regulators Guideline on the Assessment of Engineering Work Experience using Competency-Based Assessment (CBA).
- The Committee identified high-level themes to guide the revision, including variability in application quality and inconsistency in the interpretation of competencies.
    - The review has been designed to avoid overlap with technical and competency review being undertaken by Regulators.
- The draft revised guideline, including recommended edits, is currently under development and expected for July consultation approval.

6.5 Executive Committee

Sam Inchasi, CEQB Chair, presented:

- Met virtually on March 2 to review feedback from the January meeting, the April CEQB meeting agenda, and progress against the work plan.
- Discussions informed the decision to introduce in-meeting feedback as a mechanism to support the continuous improvement of CEQB meetings.
- One-to-one meetings: Now connected with all CEQB members, enabling a deeper understanding of individual perspectives, providing valuable insight into strengths, governance practices that work well, and opportunities to enhance CEQB effectiveness.

6.6 Nominations Committee

Ryan Melsom, CEQB Secretary presented:

As per Board Policy 6.10, all discussion about nominees is considered confidential, so only high-level information can be shared:

- Two new (2) appointments are underway:
- Alberta Representative: The regulator has submitted one (1) nominee to replace Anil Gupta
- Members-at-Large: The nomination committee selected one (1) nominee to replace Carol MacQuarrie
- Announcements of new members will be made following the May Board meeting
- Two (2) reappointments are also underway:
- Ontario Representative: Farzad Rayegani
- Northern Representative: Adam Wallace

First use of the Attributes Matrix:

- Proved valuable and highlighted opportunities to strengthen the process:
    - Allow committee to benchmark CEQB composition (including outgoing members) prior to review
    - Allowed committee to align candidate attributes with upcoming CEQB priorities and areas of need
- Geographic representation:
    - While not viewed as a risk, the geographic distribution of applicants presents an opportunity to better understand and potentially expand outreach efforts.
    - The applicant pool did not include representation from British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, or the Northern territories.

7. Report on Engineers Canada Board activities and decisions

Elliott Coles, Board appointee, presented:
